Thank you, Miss Carolyn Watchta, for the help you have given us so freely during the past years. We sincerely appreciate all you have given us, and you will remain in our fondest memories of North High.

For all you have done, we, the Class of 1980, would like to recognize you; therefore, we dedicate to you, the 1980 Northern Light.

The sun rises as the yellow buses begin to roll. By seven thirty, you're half asleep on the way to Landry Avenue. You get to school, still tired from last night's homework or Saturday night's party, and you know its going to be a long day until 2:05 PM. You usually can grab a quick breakfast at the snack bar. You've got time to talk with your friends, and relax during your free time. But as the day wears on, its not that bad; the teachers are tired, too, so they don't give you too much homework.

The final bell rings, just like any other bell, but you know its 2:05. The red sun shines through the cafeteria glass. The day, like any other day, is over. Perhaps something special happened, perhaps not. You're kind of tired and the yellow buses are back again to take you home from what you experienced that day at North High.

While you're in class, you know you've got to work. Some of us do it a little better than others, and there are some that don't do it at all. But in whatever class, the work usually is tough, but it's not all that bad. You read a book or pour a few chemicals. You write until your hand aches and you're sick of writing, sick of the teachers, and sick of school. But in the back of your mind you know it's going to get you a job some day, and that you'll willingly do the same thing tomorrow.

Unlike "Animal House", not too much food gets thrown around in our cafeteria, and there's no John Belushi filling up his checks with mashed potatoes and jello. Everybody complains about the lunches, but they eat them anyway knowing that for forty cents they couldn't get anything like it elsewhere. Small groups of friends sit at small tables arguing over why the Patriots lost, and some cry in laughter. And after you empty your tray in the receiving bin, you feel new and revived because of the not-so-bad stuff that sits in your stomach.

Free time is intended for study. Few of us usually do it. We are more likely to stand around evaluating the opposite sex. Free time, though, gives us the opportunity to study if we want to, go out to breakfast, talk with friends, have a cigarette, or if we're underclassmen, sit in a study and draw pictures of the teacher. But that time is ours, and we make of it what we will.

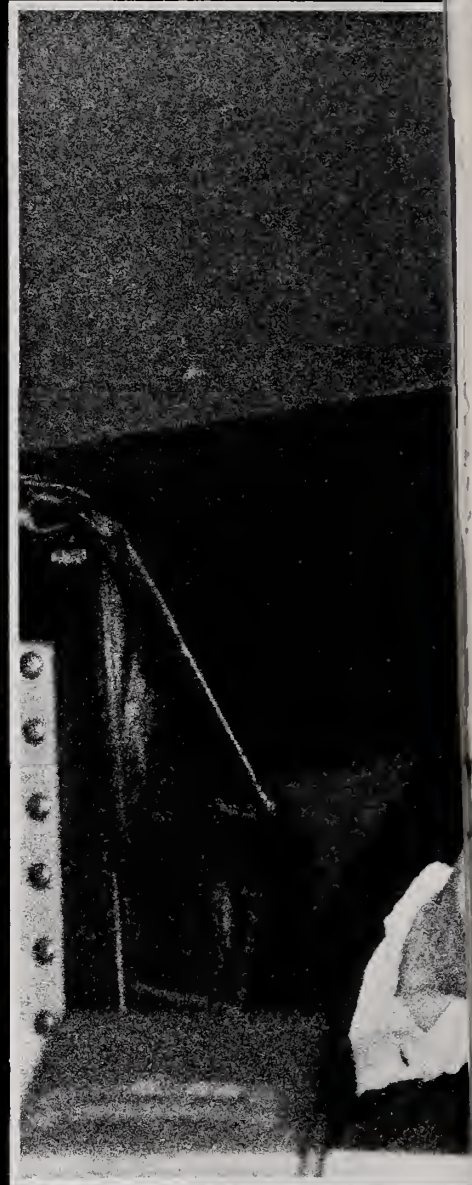

After school, there are a few individuals who have something inside of them which causes them to put out more of themselves. They labor and work hard at whatever it may be, putting in extra time to excel in that field. Some choose athletics, striving to achieve the goal of physical excellence. Others choose the fields of drama or music. Whatever after school activity they may choose, the people who participate in these organizations are special people with a strong motivation and drive to excel in these. In each, the student finds enjoyment and individual expression which, in turn, creates North's identity of academic and athletic excellence.

Homecoming

The annual Thanksgiving Day game became the Homecoming game this year due to a quirk in the football schedule. Festivities started with the marching units parading through town followed by the class floats. The seniors won the float contest, much to everyone's surprise as their float had been started only the night before and barely was ready for presentation the next morning. This meant a clean sweep for the seniors, as they had won the poster contest, the spirit link competition, and the spirit contest at the rally the day before.

Deb Hannan was elected Homecoming Queen, and her court was composed of Pat MacKenzie, Meeghan Hoye, Jeanne LaFontaine, Jeanne Reinbold, Gretchen Loew, Gretchen Schofield, Denise Bury and Megan Schofield. The team capped the day's activities by defeating Attleboro in the football game which followed.

Powderpuff

After many rain-outs, the annual powderpuff game was held on Nov. 28th, a Sunday afternoon. The Senior Sharks clashed with the Jets emerging victorious, by a single point, 7-6. Each team boasted its set of "Cheerleaders" comprised of boys from each class. Juniors were coached by Jim Rickard, Mike Gallagher and Rick Kroll, while the Seniors had Keith Beyer, Randy Hebert and Greg Horton as coaches.

Senior Prom

This year's Senior Prom was held on February 21st at the Sheraton-Tara Hotel in Braintree, Mass. Couples enjoyed a full night of dancing to the music of Eternity. The Senior boys, voting before dinner, chose Gretchen Loew as the Prom Queen. The Senior girls chosen for the court were Charlene Walsh, Karen Jourdenais, Kris Kummer, Deb Hannan, Denise Akroyd, Kathy Taylor, Cheryl Kraskouskas, and Sherri Landry.

Junior Prom

The Junior Prom was held at the Venus de Milo Restaurant in Somerset this year. It started at 7:00 P.M. on Tuesday, April 22, 1980. Dinner was served at 8:00 and the Queen and her court were announced at 9:30. The Queen was Lisa Montgomery and the court was composed of Lisa Horton, Lauren Tullie, Gretchen Schofield, Paulette Bourgeois, Paula Metrano and Carol Taylor. Dancing to the music of Night Beat (especially to the theme song "I Go Crazy") continued until midnight when the festive evening ended.

Freshman - Sophomore Social

The annual Freshman-Sophomore social was held in the pastel-decorated cafeteria on May 10, 1980. Dancing to the music of Catcher followed a buffet dinner. The evening's theme song, "Always and Forever" echoed the memories of the nearly 200 students who attended.

Father - Daughter Dance

The Student Council - sponsored Father- Daughter dance was held this year on Dec. 1, 1979 in the snowflake decorated school cafeteria. This successful event, now in its sixth year, attracted over 200 "couples". A buffet dinner was served early in the evening, and dancing (to the music of the Joe Miconi Band) and picture-taking sessions took up the rest of the time. The many smiles around the room reflected the fact that a good time was had by all.

Elections

The freshman class selected their next-year's class officers on June 3rd., and were followed by the sophomores and juniors on June 4th. and 5th., respectively. The student council supervised the elections which also included the SAC and Student Council contests. Speeches were made by candidates at early morning assemblies and votes were cast all day in room 210. Since voting was done with computer cards, the results were announced shortly after the polls closed at the end of each school day. The new student government officers ended this school year by beginning the planning of next year's activities.

Student Government: Classes

Most students expect their senior year to be the best of their high school career. For the class of '80, this certainly was true. Led by the competent (and sane) guidance of advisors Carolyn Watchta and Richard Bonenfant, our Seniors got an early start, holding bake sales and car washes off campus during the summer. At Homecoming, the class took all available honors, placing first in float, poster, chain-link, and spirit contests. Being narrowly defeated in the annual (and rain delayed) Powderpuff game failed to "dampen" class spirits. Planning for the February Senior Prom occupied most of the winter, and the result was both expensive and fun. Planning and practicing for graduation came next, although when the big day came, everyone truly was "under the weather". Also, some class members found time to take a class trip to Disney World. All in all, it was a year to remember.

Emily Powers and David Vito certainly had their hands full advising the "jumpy Juniors." A major Junior class project was candle selling — this year's most successful money raiser for the class of '82. The Junior Prom was a great success. The dance was held this spring at the Venus de Milo restaurant. The Junior Jets had some rain problems, but triumphed none the less. The class also held a car wash, resulting, we hear, in some broken glass . . . For Homecoming season, they entered a nifty float and did well in the poster contest. With all this "experience" now behind them, class members are looking forward to their Senior year.

The "silly Sophomores" had a productive year under the leadership of advisors Diane Francis and Brian Marsden. Many class members worked to design and build the class float for the Homecoming parade. Class-treasury projects also were a major part of the years' activities. Class members sold wrapping paper and ornaments at Christmas time. Additionally, the class sold magazine subscriptions, held a bake sale, sold refreshments at night school, and sponsored a car wash, all with an eye to defraying expected senior-year expenses. In the Spring, the class sponsored a St. Patrick's Day dance and co-hosted the annual Freshmen-Sophomore Social. Altogether, it was a busy, memorable year.

The Freshman Class held class elections in October after becoming acquainted with the responsibilities the officers would have. The class planned car washes which seemed to get "washed out", and a voluntary toll both at the football games. The Freshman also sold pens, held a bake sale and sponsored a dance. Many volunteers worked on the class' Homecoming float. Mrs. Sandra Dennis advised the group throughout a fun year.

Student Council SAC.

The Student Council is the governing body of all classes, and as such it speaks for every student. This year our Student Council hosted the convention of the Southeastern Massachusetts Association of Student Councils. They also sponsored Spirit Week, Health Awareness Week, and the annual Father-Daughter Dance. They were responsible for a Blood Bank donation day for the benefit of senior Colleen Phalen. To raise money they sold lollipops, valentine carnations, and flowers for St. Patrick's Day. The Council sponsored Food for Friends and a drive for the Santa Fund. They held dances, organized the "Spring Thing" and presided over class elections for the 1980-81 year. Judging from this impressive roster of service, it is evident that our Student Council truly stands first in the ranks of student organizations in NAHS.

The Student Advisory Council serves as the link between North High students and the School Committee. As mandated by law they have no faculty advisor but meet directly with the School Committee every two months to discuss items of concern to the students. This year the SAC asked the School Committee to consider using weighted class ranks in determining valedictorian and salutatorian, and to add an honorable mention category to the honor roll. Students were also concerned with the unsightliness of the town dump which is in view of Landry Avenue. The SAC suggested a fence be erected and the matter was referred to the appropriate town officials. As usual, menu matters were also of student concern and the SAC was able to have chocolate milk and salad plates added to the daily menu. Throughout the year, the five-member SAC worked hard to represent student interests.

Honor Society

The Honor Society, under the supervision of Advisor Elaine Bedard, participated in many fund-raising and educational activities this year. They held a bake sale and raffle, but their main money-raising activity was the sale of football programs at all home games.

Career night was held on Oct. 22, 1979. Over 100 schools and representatives of post-graduate programs were present to answer questions of area high-school students. At Halloween, the Honor Society took time out to go to Sturdy Hospital's pediatrics ward in costumes to give out candy to the children. The Honor Society also sponsored a Christmas toy drive. All the items were distributed to needy families in the area by the North Attleboro Health Department.

Jackson, New Hampshire, was the site of this year's ski trip. The group left on Friday, Feb. 29th and returned late Sunday night after a bus breakdown stranded the group for much of the afternoon and evening.

The annual Honor Society banquet welcoming the 50 newly elected members was held this year on April 8th. Parents and friends were invited to a buffet dinner prepared and served by the Honor Society members. The meal was followed by a formal induction. The last event of the year was the Awards assembly presided over by the Honor Society President Faith Silva. In May, new officers were elected and plans began in June for the sale of next year's football program advertising.

Model U.N. Model Senate

From December 6 to 9, 1979 members of the International Relations class at NAHS attended the Harvard Model United Nations in Boston. Our students represented delegations from Kuwait and the Central African Republic. Tim Boyle and Julie Paquin, representing Kuwait, were members of the Security Council and sponsored or co-sponsored four out of the five draft resolutions that were debated at the Security Council sessions. Bill Kelly, of Kuwait, sponsored a resolution on the Rhodesia Peace Treaty. On the delegation from the Central African Republic, Joe Hanley wrote a resolution to control acid rain and Jeanne Lafontaine prepared a resolution on Human Rights.

NAHS was one of the most active delegations at this convention of schools from all over the U.S. For the second year in a row, a NAHS student won an award as Outstanding Delegate. This year Tim Boyle was given the honor for his work on the Security Council. In addition, Mr. Baldasaro, was selected as Outstanding Faculty Advisor.

Again this year, North High sent delegates to the Tenth Annual Hockomock Model Senate, held this year at Foxboro High School. Our twelve Senators submitted a total of five original pieces of legislation, four of which were reported out of committee for debate by the entire Model Senate; this was an achievement matched by few other schools. Among the bills submitted were Julie Paquin's (calling for election of the Secretary of State), Kelly Gilbert's (legalization of prostitution) and David Crawford's (for a comprehensive Civil Defense program).

The first day's committee hearings were both lively and informative. Julie Paquin was selected to serve as chair person of the Labor Committee, one of the eight standing committees of the Senate. The second day was given over to general debate; however, time was found to debate only two of North's bills. One, sponsored by Laurie Smith, called for a six-year presidential term; this narrowly was defeated. The other, a proposal authored by Tim Boyle calling for inclusion of women in any future military draft, fared better, passing by a comfortable margin.

College Bowl

As in previous years, the faculty chose eight students from the junior and senior classes to serve on the '79-'80 College Bowl team. After the senior team defeated the juniors, a traveling team of Jeff Werner, Paula Falocco, Kim Fish, Tim Crosta and Pamela Alix was selected. This team went on to win home matches against Foxboro on Jan. 17 and King Philip on April 8, but lost in a close match with Attleboro on May 15. Our team traveled to Foxboro and King Philip on March 4 and Feb. 13 respectively but lost both matches. Mr. William Wassel coordinated the program. Mr. Vincent Baldasaro served as Master of Ceremonies at the home matches and Mrs. Sandy Dennis served as score keeper and question researcher.

Fourth row: Karen Young, Linda Post, Deb Souza, Janine Schoeppner, Beth Pierce, Lisa Hagopian, Sue Velletri and Sue Farrell.

The Girls' Athletic Association, under the supervision of a new advisor, Mrs. Barbara Simms, planned many activities throughout the year. Under the leadership of President Laurie Hagopian, the G.A.A. raised money at a bake sale and an Easter Bunny raffle. The girls went on a ski lodge outing and attended an end-of-the-year banquet at the Pizza Hut. Treasury money was also used to purchase trophies for girls' sports, a tradition established several years ago by the G.A.A.

Latin Club

The North Attleboro Junior Classical League is a club comprised of Latin students interested in learning more about ancient Rome. This year club members began the building of a Roman catapult in October. This was entered in a state-wide Catapult Contest in Springfield, Mass. In November, North's entry in the contest, made from donated materials and parts of last year's entry, won second place for accuracy in its division.

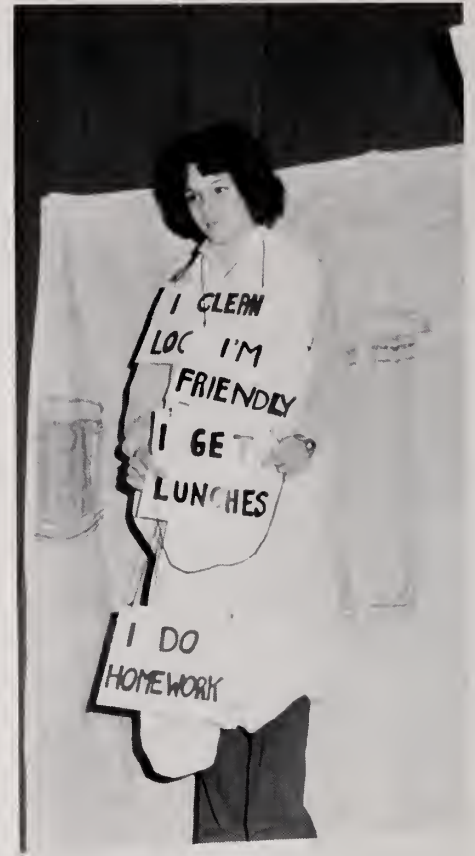

In December a Saturnalia was held, the Roman equivalent of Christmas, at President Leslie Atwill's house. In true "Roman" tradition, pizza was the main course.

Fund raisers for the club included a bake sale in November, and the annual slave auction. At the auction, J.C.L. "slaves" were bid for, and the highest bidder received the services of his slave for one school week. Doug Greene and Scott James were the auctioneers, auctioning off 45 club members.

All Latin students attended a two-part movie, Ben Hur, in February. In March, the Mass. J.C.L. Classics Day was held at U. Mass in Boston. The theme of the day was "Politics in the Ancient World" and the trip included a visit to the J.F.K. Library and a costume contest in which Erin Achin won second prize.

Art Club

The Art Club, in only its second year of existence, had a successful year under the leadership of President Linda Arnold. The club members began the year as sponsors of the Halloween Dance which produced a sizeable profit. Then the club sold Valentine buttons and later Snoopy magnets which added to their treasury. Numerous cake sales also were held. The club used this money for a two-day trip to New York City, during which many museums were visited. Members also watched the Broadway show Barnum and toured the city. Much enthusiasm was displayed, and advisors Carolyn Wachta and Brian Marsden look ahead with high hopes toward next year.

German Club

Foreign Affairs Club

This is the first year that a German Club has existed at NAHS. With Tammi Gaudreau as its president, the club sponsored a bake sale and visited a German restaurant on a field trip. An expanded schedule of activities has been planned for the coming year, including a "dream trip" to Germany during the summer of 1981. This will require greatly increased club membership and intensive fund raising, but advisor Frank Kelly Jr. is optimistic that this goal can be reached, and that the German Club will flourish.

The Foreign Affairs Club was formed this year for the purpose of taking a trip to Europe during the Spring vacation. Predictably with a special-interest club in its first year, membership was small and consisted only of Senior students, Mrs. Helen Mullen serving as advisor and Doug Greene as club president. The planned trip occurred as scheduled, and Mrs. Mullen hopes that with this initial success, club membership will increase in the coming year.

Home Arts

The Home Arts Club originally was formed to provide an extra-curricular extension of the Home Economics program. Concentrating this year in the area of fashion and tailoring, the club sponsored a late - fall series of meetings and presentations under the guidance of President Lynne Correia and advisor Evelyn Ramalhete. Fund-raising events were then scheduled with the plan of touring fashion houses in New York, but this idea had to be abandoned when it became clear that the trip would be too expensive for the young club's equally young treasury. Club activities concluded for the year with a day trip to Martha's Vineyard, and the rallying cry "next year in New York."

BICO Graduation

The North Attleboro section of the Bristol County Collaborative held a party for Jeff Bienvenue and Frank Thomas, graduating seniors of the BICO group. One hundred ten people attended the party, including distinguished guests Assistant Superintendent Richard Blazo, Principal Louis Kelley, Mr. William Kummer, the school psychologist, and BICO director Dr. Boudreau. Also attending were the Special Needs Aides. Rosemary Coughlin, head BICO teacher at North, coordinated the entire event. An enjoyable buffet dinner was donated by the Knights of Columbus, and was prepared and served by Mr. Vandal. The Stage Band provided music, gifts were given to the graduates, and Frank Thomas gave Mr. Kelley a mug as a return gift.

Business Club

The Business Club, with Kim Fontaine as President, sold giant coloring books and candles as money-raising projects this year. They held regular business meetings during the year at which they planned many special activities. One of their service projects was to run a bingo night at Madonna Manor for senior citizens.

Distributive Education

The NAHS chapter of the Distributive Education Club of America is a group that is really "all business". They attended NARCON — the North Atlantic Regional Conference, held in Hartford, Conn. — and made a fine showing. At an area conference, seven students were given awards. Staci Bouchard and Cathy Leach also won individual honors at the state convention. Cathy will go on to a national DECA meeting in Florida, being very strong in the verbal competition. The NAHS DECA also runs Ralph's Corner the school store. Customers at the Corner can look forward to major new changes and improvements in 1981.

Variety Show

Music and madness, talent and downright oddness; May 23 was the night it all came out. Emceed by Staci Bouchard, advised by Ms. Stevens and featuring the Stage Band, this year's Variety Show was a hit. The Junior Class Skit — Beat The Clock — set everyone in stitches. There were also many dance numbers this year including a outstanding exhibition of gymnastic dance by Kathy Firth. Among the many featured singers were seniors Erin Achin and Christa Delude singing "The Rose." All in all, this year's show will be a hard act to follow.

Drama

The NAHS Drama Club began the school year by producing an original children's play, The Other Side of the Incident, written by Lori Pepi. The play was performed in October before an audience of elementary school students. Mark Holmes directed another children's play, A Christmas Eve, which was performed before the St. Mark's Auxiliary.

In January, three student-directed one-act plays were presented in the One-Act Play Festival. Steve Duplisea directed a self-written rock musical, Live and Let Die, for which he and the cast won a Distinguished Performance Award, and Kevin Fish was named Best Actor. John Foley directed Minnikin and Mannikin for which Scott James won a Distinguished Performance Award for Acting, as did John Foley for his make-up design. The Best Play award went to The People in the Glass Paperweight, directed by Mark Holmes. Lori Pepi was honored as Best Actress for her work in this play, and David Fuller won a Distinguished Performance Award.

The spring production this year was a roaring twenties musical, The Boyfriend. This play was a lighthearted comedy set in the French Riviera. Christa Dulude and John Foley starred as a young couple, each afraid to admit to the other that they were shockingly rich. This production, the chief money maker of the year, was performed on the 28th and 29th of March. The show, produced and directed by the Drama Club advisor, Miss Cobb, was a great success.

The Drama Club hosted two dance companies during the year, Kathyanne Guy and Acme Dance. Drama students participated fully in the activities and performances sponsored by the residency companies.

At the close of the year, President Wendy Vician presided at the induction banquet of Troupe 1088 of the International Thespian Society. This dramatic honor society added eleven NAHS students to its membership this year.

Music

"Music is the universal language." This certainly is true at North High. Under the able guidance of Ronald Christianson, Music Director, and Dillard Collins, our new Band Director, the music program offers a three-season spectrum of activities. Additionally, a major performance tour was undertaken this year as part of a major effort to expand and upgrade the role of music organizations within the school.

The Marching Unit — Band, Color Guard, Drill team and Majorettes — held center stage in the fall. Emerging from its lengthy and rigorous pre-school drills under a burning August sun, this group formed the focus of pep and school spirit at rallies and football games. Its increased ("never ending," some said) practice schedule during the season certainly paid off with a snappier, sharper, and better sounding group than has been seen here for many years.

During the winter, bandsmen played in the Concert Band, Stage Band, or both. Although these groups still suffer from some degree of performance underexposure, the Stage Band was prominently featured in the late-spring Variety Show. The A Cappella Choir had many outside performances, including Circle Court and Madonna Manor. The Double Quartet appeared with the Choir at its performances, and for the Kalmia Club as well. All groups, of course, spent most of the spring preparing for the Annual Concert, which again was received with considerable acclaim.

Sandwiched between the elements of this busy schedule were a dance-a-thon, paper drive and auction, all for the purpose of financing the Spring trip. With the generous financial and moral support of the Band Parents' Organization, the band journeyed to Virginia to participate in the Shenandoah Music Festival in May and to tour Washington, D.C.; this truly was the highlight of the year, and a fitting reward for an exhausting yet very memorable year.

Student Activities Program

Thanks to the hard work of Student Services Co-ordinator Mrs. Sandra Dennis, the Student Activities calendar was very busy this year. North High students found that they had many choices as to how they could spend their free time during the day. Among the events scheduled for the past year were a Pepsi assembly, a frisbee demonstration, Health Awareness Week programs, two visits by the Navy Band, an astronomy demonstration, the Kitchen Sink Mime Company, a karate demonstration, a Bell and Howell Company career assembly, ski films, football films, information on the armed services and a special program this year dealing with rape, in which women learned how to protect themselves in all situations.

Free Press

The Free Press is an organization designed to cover and report school news through a student-produced newspaper. Operating in conjunction with advisor Rolf Tallberg's Journalism class, the newspaper is printed by students in the Graphic Arts shop. Edited this year by Senior Mike Fulton, the Free Press published three issues spaced throughout the school year. Although plagued by funding, staffing and facility problems, advisor Tallberg and his faithful staff are busily making plans for expanded coverage and publication next year.

Galadriel

Galadriel is North High's literary/creative artist magazine. Published annually by a small, highly dedicated student staff, the magazine features student poetry, creative writing, art and photography. Under the inspired guidance of advisor Rus Benson, the magazine has won numerous regional awards in past years. This year's volume, edited by Karla Hanson, met with serious production delays and will not be distributed until September. If past issues are a guide, the new Galadriel will be well worth the wait.

Yearbook

The Yearbook is the one highschool activity that operates on a year-round basis. Planning for the 1980 Northern Light began in the summer of 1979. After hundreds of hours of writing, editing, picture-taking, drawing, cropping, indexing, selling and proofreading, the idea finally became reality. The editor, staff, and advisors would like to think that the finished product speaks for itself.

Baseball

The baseball team was led by senior captains Tom Messier and Greg Horton this year. They began their season with high hopes as they had many distinguished players on the squad. However, they saw all tournament hopes fall when they lost to Foxboro late in the season. The team did have several outstanding road trips including a win against previously-undefeated Canton. The Mansfield game also proved to be a highlight; North won 2-0 in the last inning on a double by Sophomore Dave McKitchen. Senior Tim McCretton also had an excellent year. However, the true climax of the season came during a four and one-half hour, twelve-inning game against Attleboro that ended the season. One outstanding aspect was the 22 strikeouts by pitcher Tom Messier. North's true strength was reflected in Tom Tighe's bases loaded triple which won the game.

Basketball

The Boys' Basketball team completed a satisfying season this year under the leadership of senior captains Brian Copley and Tom Messier (both of whom received all-Hockomock honors). The team was disappointed as their record displayed only eight wins against a total of twelve losses despite great exertion put forth during three grueling overtime engagements. They also fell short of winning several crucial games against first, second, and third place teams, all of which were lost in the final minutes. However, some portion of their dedication was rewarded as the Rocketeers played host to the Holiday Basketball Tournament. Unfortunately, however, this proved to be a disappointment as North lost to both the Attleboro and Bishop Feehan teams.

The Girls' Basketball team fought hard against tough competition this year. Led by senior captain Debbie Dalton, they ended their season with a record of seven wins and thirteen losses. However, these deceptive figures fail to commend the fine individual performers that comprised the team. For example, the girls rallied to win the all-important Attleboro Area Holiday Tournament. Also, North's Lisa Iacuzzi was named the tournament's most valuable player. Debbie Dalton and Jennifer Copley were named to the all-tournament team. Karen Schmidt received All-Hockomock honors and the G.A.A. "Most Contributing" award went to Debbie Dalton.

Cheerleaders

The year 1979-80 saw a major increase in the cheerleading program at North. The number of cheering squads was increased from two to four; in addition, a special fifth squad was formed to take part in cheering competitions. A total of 26 girls were involved in the program, advised by Jeanette Battista and Phoebe Bliss.

The cheerleaders were selected by open competition in the spring of the previous year. During the summer, the successful candidates attended an instructional camp as well as having their own informal practices. In the fall, two squads were formed to cheer at all football and soccer games. With the onset of the winter sports season, basketball and hockey squads took over. The competition squad was formed in March and took part in five contests, taking a second-place, two thirds, a fourth and a fifth.

Throughout the year, the girls raised money with bake sales, a car wash, and the sale of key chains and pillows. These funds were used to buy varsity jackets for the cheerleaders. All in all, it was a busy and successful year.

Cross Country

The Girls' Cross Country team fought hard through a tough season this year. Led by captain Cindy Parlee, they posted a sixth-place ranking in the Hockomock League. This position is deceiving, however, as the girls put forth their best effort in placing first in the League Meet. Also, the team is to be commended for its great depth as it had many distinguished runners among its crew. Maggie Dunn was the team's number one girl in every meet; additionally, she placed first overall in the Hockomock Meet. Amid many medals and blue ribbons, she received the award for best point total and was selected to the All-Hockomock team. Other runners, including Tammy Gaudreau and Liza Dunn, joined Maggie to receive medals at the State Coaches' Meet. Coach Susan Young has much faith in the girls and believes their talent is "coming to the surface". She looks ahead toward a winning season with Sheila Bannon as next year's captain.

The Boys' Cross Country team completed a satisfying season under the leadership of captain Peter Bannon. Standout runner Vin Brennan was again selected for All-Hockomock honors, yet good individual improvement was displayed by all team members. Coach Charles Ayotte commended their performance against "keen" competition in a league that is "producing better runners every year." The boys captured a third-place position in the league as they tallied a record of five wins and three losses. Also, future winning seasons seem in store with the excellent performance of the first-place J.V. squad.

Field Hockey

The Girls' Field Hockey team displayed great improvement this year as they pooled their skills for a satisfying record of five wins, six losses and five ties. Under the leadership of co-captains Deb Hannan and Kris Kummer, the girls scored more goals in the first two games than they had throughout the entire 1978 season. Coach Marcia Conners foresees that this winning season will continue into next year with the addition of several key players from this year's outstanding Junior Varsity squad.

Football

North opened its 1979 season against rival Bishop Feehan and came away with a 14-6 win. The Rocketeers scored early on a two-yard run by John Simms and put the game away as Jack Johnson connected with Brian Copley on an 80-yard pass. North's first Hockomock League game matched the team against perennial league power Canton. All seemed well at the start as North took an early lead, yet Canton scored in the last seconds to win a hard-fought, controversial game, 26-21. King Philip was North's next opponent and although a tough N.A. defense excelled, it took an exciting 54-yard punt return by Simms to trip the Warriors in a 7-0 decision.

North's defense again was in control in a 21-6 win over Franklin. The team continued to shine as they faced undefeated Sharon next. Led by Tim Crosta's 158 yards total rushing and the usual defensive excellence, N.A. kept Sharon scoreless until the fourth quarter, recording yet another win. The next Saturday seemed like instant-replay as North completely destroyed Stoughton, 34-6, the Black Knights being no match for North's varied attack.

Bottom: "Our boys are up and fighting..."

At this point, the Rocketeers were ranked number one in Division III. The next victim was rival Mansfield, defeated by a score of 21-10 in a hard-fought game. Again, it was powerful defense which told the tale; led by Tim McCretton and Chris Alderman, the defensive unit held Mansfield to 86 total yards.

The next opponent was lightly-regarded Foxboro, and what started out as a beautiful Sunday afternoon at Community Field ended up as one of the darkest chapters in Rocketeer football history. Behind 6-0 late in the first half, quarterback Jack Johnson scored on a four-yard run but in the process severely injured his knee. Running backs Simms and Crosta, and defensive tackle Brad Dean also were lost to injuries in this game. Foxboro then pulled ahead to win, 14-7. This sudden loss of four key players as well as the game stunned the team. Unable to rebound, they dropped the final league contest to Oliver Ames, 8-0.

The final game of the season was against traditional Thanksgiving Day-rival Attleboro. The Rocketeers entered the game as underdogs, thanks to the injury to Johnson; Simms and Crosta, however, were recovered and ready to play. Coach Ray Beaupre decided to use Simms at quarterback. Simms responded to this pressure by rushing for 129 yards, scoring one touchdown and passing for another, intercepting a pass and deflecting three others, and leading North to a 20-6 upset victory. Simms was uncontestedly named as the winner of the L.G. Balfour Trophy as the game's most valuable player. Although many other players also had standout performances, the Rocketeers showed their team spirit by voting to award the game ball to Jack Johnson.

Individual post-season awards were numerous: Simms, Johnson, and George Nitso were named to the All-Hockomock Team; Doug Sawyer, Tim McCretton, Mike Cave-don, and Chris Alderman, together with Simms, Johnson and Nitso, were elected to the Sun-Chronicle All-Star Team. McCretton received the Defensive Player Award, and Glenn Plante was voted the Unsung Hero Award.

North's junior varsity team ended with a fine 6-win, 2-loss season, while the freshman team gained a record of 7 wins, one loss and a tie.

Golf

The Golf team completed a successful season this year ending with a record of six wins, five losses and one tie. Consequently, they were ranked third in the Hockomock League. Coach Arthur Nunes commended their performance, stating that the team finished as well as was possible. He also commented on a most unusual match against Sharon which ended in a tie at the final hole. Steve Dion and Todd Ballou achieved the best scores throughout the season and Steve also was awarded All-Hockomock honors.

"Let me win, but if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt." This is the Special Olympics motto that inspired Larry Kelly, one of the many competitors, who took part in the International Summer Special Olympics.

Larry, together with 500 other athletes from New England, journeyed to Brockport, New York. The games were held August 8-13, 1979, and drew more than 3,500 contestants from around the world. Larry competed in the 200 meter race and the softball throw representing the state of Massachusetts. His efforts proved to be a great success as he won a ribbon for his achievements. All of us at North High are proud of Larry; as he is one of us, so too his victory is ours.

Special Olympics

Participation in the Special Olympics program is an integral part of the Bristol County Collaborative Special Education Program (BICO) here at North High. Students are grouped by ability levels in several track-and-field categories and compete with students from other schools in local and state-level meets during the Spring. State-level winners in each category are eligible to compete in national and international meets. This year's BICO Special Olympics team consisted of eight students.

Gymnastics

The Gymnastics squad performed well this year by capturing a third place position in the Hockomock League standings. Led by senior captain Cindy Parlee, the girls tallied a record of six wins and six losses. Although individual achievement was seen, Coach Marcia Conners prefers to recall the season as being a "team-effort". She remarked that constant improvement was achieved together with increasing interest and enthusiasm by all the members. Kathy Firth received All-Hockomock honors and was named to the Boston Globe team. She also received a fourth-place ranking on the balance beam and uneven parallel bars during the Hockmock all-around competition. At this same meet, Cindy Parlee captured second place in the floor exercise competition followed by sophomore Heather Campbell who achieved fourth place in this same event.

Sheila Bannon was voted "most contributing" by her teammates and freshman Laura Pierce was named most improved.

Hockey

The Hockey team must have been a bit disappointed this year as their season came to a close. Led by captains Tom Culhane and Shane McKenna, they ended with a record of three wins and seventeen losses. However, Coach Paul Davieau attributes many of their troubles to a lack of consistency from players who really are quite good. He believes that next year's team has the potential to be the best North has seen in the past four years. Davieau believes the highlight of this season to be North's only League win (6-4) over King Philip. This particular game unleashed sophomore goalie John Spadoni in his first starting assignment. He showed off his true ability at a time when four regular starters had been out sick. Davieau commended several players for fine individual performances during the year. Of these, he included Mike McDermott and Tom Culhane who have both played more minutes of Rocketeer hockey than any other players in the past three years. Both of them also received the "Most Contributing" award, and Bob Colleran was named "Most Improved".

Indoor Track

The Indoor Track team completed an excellent season this year, tallying a record of six wins and two losses, which earned them a third-place ranking in the Hockomock League. Led by senior captains John Simms, Jerry Espinosa, and Doug Sawyer, the season seemed to be quite a success. Considering the loss of several key performers from last year, the team did well to achieve such a standing. A number of outstanding individuals should be noted for their contributions. Vin Brennan received All-Hockomock honors in the mile as did Mike Espinosa in the 600. Jerry Espinosa should also be commended for his performance throughout the season, excelling in the hurdles and the high jump. His high point was the clinching of the Class "C" high jump championship after clearing a 6'6" bar. At the end of the season, seniors Gretchen Loew and Kelly Peterson became the first girls to ever receive varsity letters on the indoor track team, reflecting the squad's changing membership over the past few years.

Third row: Shelly Goyette, Katie Grenier, Sue Lake, Chris James, Kyle Stone, Jeff Place, Ray Lacroix, Tim Gilmore, Mike Espinosa, Vin Brennan, John Ellis, Sandy Phipps, Mary Ellen Hanley, Lisa Herman, Holly Brennan, and Coach Bob Aussant.

This year was the soccer team's first season of varsity-level competition. As of yet, soccer is not an official Hockomock League sport, so our team has joined the Norfolk County League. This is one of the toughest and best leagues around, with teams that are near the top state-wide. Facing such competition, the team did well to post a record of 4 wins, 11 losses and one tie.

The 1979 team was led by tri-captains Dave Thorp, Dave Pratt and Mike Schnack. At the season's end, Schnack was selected for the League Coaches' team, together with Tim Betts and Brad Maher. The latter two lead a promising crop of underclassman players, and head coach Mike Suffoletto anticipates that the 1980 season will be the best yet.

Softball

The Girls' Softball team was led by senior captains Deb Dalton and Maura Tighe this year. As a team with great potential, they were disappointed at ranking fourth in the Hockomock League. Coach Paul Sullivan knew he had many distinguished players among his crew. He felt a greater emphasis on consistency would have shown them to be the team they really were. Nevertheless, several outstanding games against top-ranked teams proved the team's true ability. North defeated co-champion King Philip and also nearly missed an upset over first-place Canton.

Deb Dalton received All-Hockomock honors and was named "most contributing". She also ended the season with the highest batting average. Sophomore Nancy Harvey was named "most improved" and senior Maura Tighe also excelled. Her numerous contributions of ability and example made her a great asset to the team.

Track

The Boys' Track team had an excellent season this year under the leadership of captains Jim Savard, Jerry Espinosa and Jon Hobson. They maintained an unbeaten record until the very last meet at which Stoughton prevailed to clinch the Hockomock title. North had come so close once again, just as last year, and were left only with second-place rank.

The boys showed their true ability at major meets throughout the season. The mile relay squad took second place at the New England Track Championship; they also placed second in the J.J. Kelley Relays. Highest point scorers for each class were freshman Len Dieterle, sophomores Len Harmon and Bob Marcotte, junior Mike Smith, and senior Jerry Espinosa. Jerry also achieved the highest point total scored by one individual in a single season (226 points). He was awarded All-Hockomock Honors for his outstanding performance.

The Girls' Track team had an outstanding season this year under the leadership of captains Cindy Parlee, Barbara Quackenbush and Pat MacKenzie. The girls maintained an impressive unbeaten string as they posted their 18th win without a loss. Consequently, they were ranked number one in the Hockomock League for the second straight year. Thirty-three records were either broken or newly-established, and the team placed first in the Val Muscato Relays. They also placed second in the Somerset Relays, and captured their best rank ever in the Class C State Championship. Jennifer Copley completed her second season scoring over 100 points, Lisa Rush, Jackie Reece, Lynn Billinghoff and Sue Lake also had excellent seasons. They were each given All-Hockomock honors for their achievements.

Tennis

The Girls' Tennis team was led by senior captains Gretchen Loew and Pam Toth this year. However, due to many injuries and absentees, much individual achievement was demanded from younger players. Consequently, the team did well to post a respectable ranking in the Hockomock League.

Gretchen Loew received All-Hockomock honors and sophomore Sue Farrell had an excellent season. Also, Kathy Rego and Denise Gonya received their varsity letters as first-time freshmen players.

With six victories and ten defeats, this year's Boys' Tennis team did not do as well as previous years' records had predicted it would. Many of their losses, however, were by close scores, and the consistently fine play of senior Greg Dean was a season highlight. Greg was elected to the All-Hockomock team in singles, placing second in that event at the League meet. Coach Sandy Xenos expects that with this year's experience, veterans returning for next season have a good chance for a winning team record.

Seventh row: Jim Savard, John Simms, Lynn Silvestri, Lorraine Langlois, Annette Hetu, Jessie Lew, Maria Camara, Richard Daviau and Paula Falocco.

The Awards Assembly was held on May 13, 1980. Presided over by Honor Society president Faith Silva, awards were given for academic achievement and service to the school. Principal Louis Kelley began the academic awards by recognizing the senior class valedictorian, Jeff Werner, and the salutatorian, Jon Hobson. Awards were given for excellence in English, U.S. History, Formal Debate, Chemistry, and Math-Science. Certificates were awarded for achievement in Latin, Theater Arts, Art, and Music. Mr. Wassel presented the twelve awards for achievement in Occupational Education. Recognition was also given to computer aides. The academic awards ended with the reading of the names of those who had achieved highest honors during the year. Twenty-four students received recognition for service to the school as aides. The program ended with the announcement that the Class of 1980 had dedicated its yearbook to Miss Carolyn Watchta, one of its class advisors.

Class Day

May 30, 1980 was the date chosen for Class Day, the official start of graduation ceremonies. All underclassmen assembled in the gymnasium and applauded as the graduates marched in for the first time (but not the last time) to the traditional march, Pomp and Circumstance. A class history, class will and class prophecy were read, causing many laughs and a few raised eyebrows.

Right: Gretchen Loew, Pat MacKenzie and Jack Johnson — "They didn't tell us that everybody was coming."

Below left: Steve Grant — "When will they get to my name?"

Below: Tim McCretton, Lisa McGee and Jeff McGlashing — "Well, they said it was informal!"

Bottom right: Karen Schmidt, Mike Schnack and Kim Schoeppner listen attentively to the class history.

On the afternoon of May 30, 1980 the senior class assembled for the formal Class Day program. After hearing essays by class essayists, awards were presented. Senior class valedictorian and salutatorian were recognized, and the Merle Crockett Award was presented to Pat Mackenzie. After the program ended, graduates, parents and friends adjourned to the cafeteria for refreshments.

Graduation

Graduation night, 1980 was certainly a night to remember. Because of the wish to avoid last year's humid ceremonies held in the gym, and despite predictions of showers, graduates, faculty and guests found themselves marching onto the football field at 6:00 P.M. on the evening of June 2nd. The program proceeded through the salutatorian's and valedictorian's speeches and the singing of "Climb Every Mountain" by three senior girls. The Commencement Address came next and State Senator Parker, noticing the darkening clouds and the lightning behind the bleachers made only brief remarks. As the presentation of medals and achievement awards began, a light shower also commenced and umbrellas dotted the audience and faculty rows. Just as the Balfour trophy winner was being announced, the skies opened and the faculty, graduates and audience fled the field in a great mass of drenched red, white and black robes.

Resuming the program in the gymnasium a half an hour later, Mr. Kelley and Mr. Wassel arranged for the sodden graduates to march in, in order, and stand through the remaining program (the chairs were still outside). Quickly reading through the scholarship awards, Mr. Kelley introduced School Committee Chairman, Mr. Leco, to present the diplomas. As family and friends crowded around, everything became more and more informal until it finally ended with the now-traditional hat toss. As everyone filed out of the gymnasium, several graduates were heard to remark that this was a night that they would not soon forget — a sentiment seemingly shared by all.

Above: Jeff Werner — "... and let me say a few more words about the faculty."

Reception

The NAHS Alumni Association hosted the traditional senior class reception held on June 4 at the King Philip Ballroom. Following a banquet for the senior class, family, friends and faculty joined the graduates for an evening of dancing and socializing. Highlights of the evening included a grand march of the Class of 1980 led by Alumni Association president Carl Mitchell, and the singing of the Class Ode by Christa Dulude. Cheryl Rose was presented with the Alumni Association scholarship. Unlike most senior activities this year, the reception was not rained out. Although the evening was not a warm one, it was a dry one, and it provided a fine ending to the calendar of senior events.

Below: Christa Dulude - "Plug it in, you clowns!"

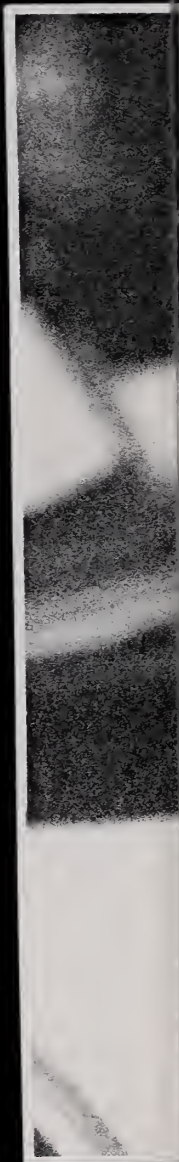

Below right: Dan Mallon and Laurie Sharp — "He came in here wearing a bow tie."
